Dear Friends,

Welcome! On behalf of our Committee I would like to thank you for being a part of the annual Stanley M. Marks, MD Golf Classic and Blood Cancer Research dinner. We truly appreciate your support during these uncertain times and thank you for your commitment to the Stanley M. Marks Blood Cancer Research Fund.

We are proud that all funds raised at this event stay here in Pittsburgh. The Stanley M. Marks Blood Cancer Research Fund supports promising research projects at UPMC Hillman Cancer Center. Because of your generosity we will be able to help ensure a source of income to provide pilot funds for young investigators advancing innovative research initiatives and novel therapies.

I want to personally thank our leading corporate sponsors whose financial support makes this event possible. They include Mark Cuban, Joe Curtin, John & Kitty Goodish, Simone Karp, MSA, Peoples, PGT Trucking, Inc., UPMC Hillman Cancer Center, UPMC Health Plan as well as Cleveland Brothers, National Physique Committee, GlenMede, Integra Connect, PNC and Sennebogen. Thank you to our leading pharmaceutical sponsors Astra Zeneca, Coherus, Takeda, Abbvie, Beigene, Genentech, GSK and Exact Sciences. Thank you, also to all of the PAR sponsors, pharmaceutical companies, and program book sponsors for their participation.

Finally, thank you to the Committee for their outstanding work and dedication. We have had to change the way we do things this year and this small, devoted group of individuals have once again organized and pulled together this amazing event completely on a volunteer basis. Because of their dedication and your support, I am humbled by the fact that we are well on our way to exceeding our goal at a time when so much in our lives has dramatically changed.

I can tell you that cancer research has evolved significantly since we started this event six years ago. We continue to witness tremendous breakthroughs in the treatment of chronic and acute leukemias, myeloma, Hodgkin's and Non-Hodgkin's lymphoma. All of you have played a part in the overall success of this event which will directly impact potential cures for these diseases.

Enjoy the day and thank you for your tremendous support.

With my sincere thanks,

Stanley M. Marks, MD

The James Conner Courage Award

The James Conner Courage Award

The inaugural “James Conner Courage Award” was named in honor of Pittsburgh Steeler running back James Conner.

It was in 2015, when James heard the words “you have cancer.” A biopsy revealed Stage 2 Hodgins Lymphoma.

At that time, James was a star running back with the University of Pittsburgh Panthers football team, breaking records and leading his team in rushing yards. An avid Pitt Panthers fan, Dr. Stanley Marks was faced with not only helping this young man beat his cancer but ensuring his successful return to the football field.

Dr. Marks would say his work was easy.

James fought his cancer the same way he played football - relentlessly and without surrender. He refused to miss Pitt’s spring football practice and wore a surgical mask to avoid illness as he pushed himself during the drills. His teammates coined the phrase “Conner Strong” to demonstrate their support. His strength to survive and work tirelessly on the football field, attracted the attention of the Pittsburgh Steelers, who drafted him in 2017.

It was that drive, that heart, that spirit, that courage that inspired this award.

At UPMC Hillman Cancer Center, we are inspired daily by those who face cancer without fear but with determination.

They are the inspiration for the Stanley M. Marks Golf Classic “James Conner Courage Award” as it will forever mark the strength and courage of those who face cancer.

Courage Award Recipient

Cathy Doyle

Acute Myeloid Leukemia, 2016

First patient in UPMC Hillman-developed clinical trial

On any given day, you will find Cathy Doyle happily playing with and caring for her four grandchildren. Her entire family, which includes her two children, their spouses, her husband and her nine brothers and sisters are extremely close and most live nearby right in the Pittsburgh region.

That family rallied around Cathy when four years ago, she was fighting for her life following a diagnosis of Acute Myeloid Leukemia (AML), a rare type of blood cancer that forms in the bone marrow and rapidly progresses.

Unfortunately, Cathy was no stranger to cancer – she had already overcome ovarian cancer a few years earlier. With this diagnosis, her Hillman oncologist/hematologist, Dr. Annie Im, recommended she undergo an allogeneic stem cell transplant, which requires a stem cell donor who is a close genetic match.

Patients sometimes struggle to find donors, but since Cathy came from a large family, she had choices. Every single one of her family members volunteered to be tested and two brothers were 100% matches. It was her younger brother, Michael Ragan, who was a full match and became her donor. Ragan never hesitated. The transplant was not easy, but it worked.

Cathy spent a month at UPMC Shadyside receiving high doses of chemotherapy to kill the cancer cells and another month following a stem cell transplant, which replaces the destroyed stem cells in the bone marrow.

Despite the stem cell match, stem cell transplants can also have complications, one of which is called graft-versus-host disease or GVHD. GVHD occurs when the donor’s T cells inadvertently attack the patient’s healthy cells. It can be mild, moderate, or severe – and in some cases, life-threatening.

Preventing GVHD is a focus of UPMC Hillman Cancer Center researcher, Dr. Warren Shlomchik, and Cathy was the first person at UPMC selected for his clinical trial. The initial trial was so successful in reducing the risk of GVHD and in preventing cancer recurrence, that the trial has been expanded to a multi-center, national trial.

Cathy frequently calls herself blessed and lucky. She does not complain. She believes she was blessed to find Dr. Im and her oncology team, to be the first person in a new clinical trial at UPMC Hillman Cancer Center, and blessed for the wonderful nurses and a loving family who cared for her.

“She is one of a kind,” Dr. Im said. “She never once said ‘why me?’ She approached every treatment with a positive, faithful, hopeful, and gracious spirit.”

Today, Cathy helps other patients by talking with them about her clinical trial and her experiences. She keeps in contact with many of the nurses who cared for her and she is enjoying her life while running after her four grandchildren.

Cathy Doyle, the 2021 James Conner Courage Award recipient, is a positive, fun loving, and caring woman who refuses to give in to cancer.

TECH COMPANY

We've been on the technological cutting edge since the early days when we pioneered the energy industry to the new frontiers we're exploring today.

In just the last 10 of our 150+ years, CNX has donated nearly $30 million to causes and organizations in our Appalachian communities. And now we've pledged another $30 million over the next 6 years.

This region is more than the place where we do business; this is and always will be our home.

Look up. Chances are the sky above you is clearer than it used to be. One reason for that is that natural gas is powering more of the generators that bring electricity to homes in this region.
